I like it e very much, the soldiers are very nice and I like to play with the children from the other countries.

What makes you sad?
Here in Switzerland is everything wonderful and nothing can makes me sad. But I'm sad, that in Albania are less possibilities to create my free time.

What makes you happy?
To speak with the soldiers and my Friends and I love to play football.

If you had a wish for free...
There's nothing more I would love as much as to come back one more time to a Swisscor-camp.

I would like to send my greetings to my brothers Fabi and Eni because I miss them very much!

Red Cross

On 17th of August the Swiss Red Cross organized a wonderful trip to Titlis for the accompanying adults of the Red Cross. To travel by gondolas and see the divine nature was a great experience for all of us. Arrived at the top on 3020 meters the group was standing at the top of the "Titlis" glacier. Everybody of us took the chance touching the white, magnificent snow in the middle of summer. An extraordinary impression also for the local people. On top of that, the weather was excellent and there was no need to complain: the sun was shining and so it was very comfortable for all of us to see all the beauties of the nature. We felt free like a bird and after a while we got hungry.

So we went on visiting the lunch room in the restaurant and everybody took a seat. There arrived, we had lunch in the restaurant with a wonderful view and some time to speak and exchange experiences with the nice people from the Red Cross.

After the lunch we went to the glacier cave on the top of the mountain and had the opportunity to feel and see the ice everywhere around us. It was a strange but extraordinary feeling. Too early we took some group pictures and got down to the picturesque village Engelberg for a sightseeing. After a short trip we came back to the coach and took the road back to our home base.

For me this was a special day.
Thank you Swiss Red Cross!
